

S. TURDAY EVENING, JAN. 22, 1910.

IMPORTANT and interesting transacto the great majority of the world, which is generally absorbed in political movements, international schemes or financial transactions. The Jews are still wasderiog while the orthodox are offering their devotious with their windows opened towards Jerasalem, and those who watch closely the signs of the times often ask themselves the question, "Are the times of the Gentiles about to be fulfilled? ' and are there people living today who will see the ancient capital again in the hands of the Israelitish race? From all that can be learned this is possible, as there is now more determination on the part of this people to possess the city of their fathers than at any time since Jerusalem was sacked and the people scattered nearly who are held to be responsible for the ninsteen hundred years age. The Z'onist movement is not led by Peter the through illegal and monopolistic methods Hermit, nor will the sword be in in restraint of trade. The Department evidence in the present crosade as in of Justice believes that it has ample the days of Joshus, but the matter can proof to sustain its allegations and that he reduced to a simple proposition—the people want the land of their aucestors tofore defied justice and whose operaand they have the necessary whorewithal tions have affected injuriously every to obtain 1. Its allies, the laborities and nationalists, will practically hold the balance of power, and the Irish party particularly will be in a position to dictate legislation.

THE horrible murder of a young woman in Chicago, the butchery of an elderly female in Rockford, Ill., and the murder of a young Italian, his wife and mother-in-law in New York, are among the grassome happenings reported daring the past forty-eight hours. The increase of revolting crimes during the past few years is attracting considerable attention, as this wave of horrors seems to the bills in the hands of his committee. today made Sarah an offer that be gathering force all the time. That this country is infested with many whose "feet are swift to shed blood" is becoming more and more apparent every day. An I alian is now on trial in Tampa, Flt., charged with the murder of a prosperous merchant, a native of Italy. The evidence showed that the alleged murderer has not worked in two years, that he has made several trips to New Orleans, Paterson, N. J., and even one to Italy. A leading financier of Tampa testified that the accused Italian had come to was granted for building one of the ships him and offered to kill any man he wanted bim to for $200.

SWEEPING the country like wildfire, a national meat boycott, began a week ago as a jest by a little party of friends in a Oleveland cafe, has assamed such tramendous proportions that already the beef trade has been serionsly demoralized. More than two million of people are believed to have inited in the movement and in many cities it has become powerfully organized in clubs and societies. Packing interests, which at first received the news of the boycott with laughter, are now plainly much concerned over it. Threats are reported to have been made to absudon its agencies in towns where
